FARMERS' BULLETIN No.1576

FUR LAWS
FOR THE SEASON
1928-29

TO ENCOURAGE effective action on the part of those concerned in maintaining the supply of fur animals, including trappers, fur tradesmen, administrative officials, legislative committees, and conservation societies, the information in this bulletin, the fourteenth annual summary of the fur laws, is published. The primary responsibility for making and enforcing laws to protect fur animals rests with the individual States. The act of Congress of May 25, 1900, known as the Lacey Act, extended the jurisdiction of the department to the regulation of interstate shipments of wild animals or parts thereof, and in carrying out its responsibility thereunder in fur conservation the department has adopted a policy intended to be cooperative in advancing the common interests of the public. The more the spirit of cooperation prevails on the part of all concerned the brighter will be the prospects for the perpetuation of fur animals as a commercial resource and as an interesting part of our native wild life.

WASTEFUL PRACTICES IN UTILIZING FUR RESOURCES

THE RESPONSIBILITIES of the individual States in the protection of fur animals and in fur-law administration are being more and more recognized. Appropriate conservation laws must be enacted and effectively enforced if the public and private benefits from our fur resources are to continue, and the steady diminution of fur stocks is to be stopped. Factors contributing to this diminution include the general tendency in many sections to class fur-bearing animals as "vermin," to be killed on sight, the reduction of natural fur-producing areas, the unwise drainage of swamps and marshes, needless destruction of forests and cover, and wasteful practices in all occupations concerned in the fur trade, including overtrapping.

Improper practices, on the part of both trappers and dealers, are material factors in the too high percentage of waste in the raw-fur industry. In the taking of fur animals some trappers fail to confine their trapping operations to the periods when the fur is prime, and in the removal of pelts and handling them before shipment they do not always exercise sufficient care to prevent waste. Damaged and improperly cured skins are unworthy of standard prices and often are the subject of misunderstanding between shipper and purchaser.

Raw-fur receiving houses make their contribution to the annual wastage by sending out quotations on prime furs so early in the year as to induce trappers to commence operations at seasons when it is impossible in many sections to obtain animals bearing prime pelts. Not only is the trapping season thus opened prematurely, but in many cases actual violations are committed by thoughtless trappers anxious to procure and dispose of furs on a supposedly high market. The trapper allowing himself to be encouraged in early trapping finds his furs graded low, and that his financial returns are only a fraction of what they would have been had the animals remained unmolested until their pelts reached a high state of perfection. Many reputable concerns have long realized these detrimental influences and are doing everything possible to combat unethical practices. The problems of conserving the remnant of the fur supply and of supplementing it from other sources must be faced by all who are interested in the future of one of the oldest industries of the country.

The fur-farming industry is making substantial progress with some of the species that can be raised in captivity. Many valuable fur bearers, however, can not yet be satisfactorily raised under the usual measures of restraint. Fur farming holds possibilities of substantial contributions to the raw-fur supply and of lucrative returns from successful ventures therein, but the great bulk of the pelts of most species entering the fur trade must continue to be taken in the wild. Fur farming can be deemed in no sense a substitute for the adequate and necessary conservation of the resources of the individual States in wild fur-bearing animals.

Most of the States will hold legislative sessions in 1929. Careful attention should be given to affording adequate protection to those species that have become scarce or have diminished in numbers, or have been adversely affected by peculiar local conditions. Protection should be extended either in the form of restricted trapping seasons or by closing the season for a definite or an indefinite period on individual species wherever necessary to allow time for them to increase or for local conditions to become stabilized.

The importance is also stressed of stipulation by law by all the States and Provinces that trappers shall report on each season's catch before a trapping permit for the next year will be issued. Several States now require trappers to render annual reports on the number of each kind of fur animals taken. This method of collecting statistical data on fur resources affords the best-known means of forming accurate conclusions on the status of the various species, particularly when the information is available over a term of years. The material fluctuation in the annual take of an individual species affords a reliable index of its welfare.

The powers of game wardens and commissions are being enlarged in some of the States so as to provide for the adoption of wild-life administration programs sufficiently flexible to care for the fur resources. The practice should be more general. Inelastic laws too often do not allow State officials to close seasons or otherwise restrict the taking of fur animals in emergencies or when local conditions make such action otherwise desirable. Fur animals of nearly every species should receive a full measure of protection in practically all sections of the country.

INTERSTATE SHIPMENT OF PELTS

The United States Department of Agriculture, through the Bureau of Biological Survey, is in position to aid State authorities in the prosecution of many violators of State conservation laws through the provisions of the Federal Lacey Act, which governs interstate shipments of wild animals. This legislation, enacted on May 25, 1900, and amended and incorporated in the Criminal Code of the United States on March 4, 1909, prohibits the delivery of the dead bodies of wild animals or parts thereof to any common carrier for transportation from one State to another when such animals have been killed or shipped in violation of State laws. It stands continually on guard as a supplement to State legislation for the protection of wild animals, and deserves careful study by all concerned in revising and framing State laws relating to fur animals, if the States are to avail themselves fully of its provisions. Although this law carries no police power, and although the Federal game protectors employed in its enforcement are not empowered to seize illegal shipments of furs or game animals, the department and the protectors under its jurisdiction maintain close cooperation with the various States. Many violators are apprehended through the activities of Federal agencies operating under this law, with resulting beneficial effect in an educational way and the deposit of thousands of dollars annually in penalties in State treasuries.

A violation of the Lacey Act is predicated upon a violation of the State law, but owing to the present status of State laws it is seldom possible to institute Federal prosecutions for illegal shipments of furs. The actual evidence of the illegal killing of fur animals is most difficult for the department to obtain as compared with the documentary evidence of shipments. For instance, frequently a State will protect beavers for an indefinite term or for a period of years, but will fail to make provision concerning the possession, sale, and shipment from the State of skins of such animals during the continuance of the close season.

State seizures of such illegal shipments are seldom possible, but one State at least has had a measure of success in inducing local courts to require shippers to refund to the State the amount received in payment for illegal shipments of skins, in addition to the assessment of penalties for the violation. Such refunds are required on the theory that the shipper by his illegal acts should not be allowed to profit at the expense of the State. The widespread adoption of this method of dealing with violators should have a wholesome influence on the fur resources of the several States.

In the enforcement of the provisions of the Lacey Act it has been found that most reputable raw-fur houses are eager to cooperate to the fullest extent in the suppression of traffic in unprime and contraband skins. The outstanding need in connection with traffic in beaver skins is for a system of branding, perforating, or permanently marking those legally taken so that they may be satisfactorily identified and traced to the point of origin. With some such fairly uniform system in vogue in the beaver-producing States, reputable raw-fur dealers would be in position to refuse to handle contraband skins.

The system of tags, affidavits, and shipping permits in connection with the payment of royalties on furs in most of the Provinces of Canada appears to work to advantage in the suppression of illegal traffic in skins of fur-bearing animals. Upon the payment of the royalty a tag is provided, half of which is surrendered for an export permit, while the stub remains attached to the skin as evidence that the royalty has been paid.

The system has been further developed in British Columbia, where royalties are required to be paid on all furs intended for export and for shipment within the Province for tanning and dressing. Bales of furs for shipment are required to be inspected. Shipments must then have lead seals attached and be accompanied to destination by export permits, duplicates of which are forwarded to the game department of the Province or State to which the fur is being shipped. Other State and Provincial game departments will quickly recognize the value of opportunities to check shipments of furs received from beyond their borders and the possibilities in cooperation of preventing illegal interstate traffic in furs.

REVIEW OF LEGISLATION OF 1928

Of the nine States<sup>1</sup> that held regular legislative sessions this year, only Kentucky, New York, and Virginia made changes in the laws relating to fur-bearing animals. Regulatory changes affecting fur animals were made in Alaska, Arkansas, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania. Changes in fur laws in Canada were effected by legislative action or by regulation in British Columbia, Northwest Territories, Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan, and Yukon.

Kentucky reduced the fee for a nonresident trapping license from $25 to $10.50. New York required all traps to be stamped legibly with owner's name and, except in the Adirondack region and the Catskill Park, to be inspected at least once every 24 hours. Virginia rescinded the powers heretofore conferred upon county boards of supervisors with respect to game matters and vested them in the commission of game and inland fisheries, and provided a state-wide season for trapping fur animals on the lands of another from November 15 to March 1. A combination hunting, fishing, and trapping license was prescribed and the fee for a nonresident license increased from $10 to $15.50.

By regulation, the trapping season on raccoons in Pennsylvania was restricted to one month instead of the two and a half months formerly allowed. British Columbia fixed a uniform trapping season from November 1 to February 28, except that the season will remain closed on muskrats on Vancouver Island.

Beaver trapping was prohibited for three years in the Mackenzie district of the Northwest Territories. In Ontario the muskrat season was closed for two years south of the French and Mattawa Rivers. Saskatchewan shortened the season on foxes one month. Yukon established an open season on marten from November 15 to April 1 and fixed a season limit of six on bear.

BOUNTY LEGISLATION

The Game and Fish Commission of Arkansas is authorized to pay a bounty of $15 on wolves and $5 on bobcats (except that the amount is limited to $2.50 only for kittens). A bounty system was also inaugurated in North Carolina, where $2 will be allowed on wildcats and 25 cents each on hawks and crows, payable by the department of conservation and development through the county game wardens.

ALASKA

By regulation the Secretary of Agriculture closed the Territory of Alaska to beaver trapping. The season on mink was also closed in fur district 3 and that on land otter, mink, and weasel on Unimak Island. The muskrat season was shortened 10 days in the Tanana drainage in fur district 2 and 20 days in fur district 3. The trapping season on land otter, weasel, fox, and mink was shifted to open two weeks later in fur district 3.

SUMMARY OF LAWS

Legislation for the protection of fur animals has not progressed in some States to the stage of stringent regulation, and this condition, together with the fact that such legislation is in the formative period, makes it often exceedingly difficult to determine what restrictions apply to transporting and marketing furs.

In stating the open season the plan has been followed, as in the bulletin on the game laws,<sup>2</sup> to include the first and last days thereof. Statements regarding trapping on lands of another do not take into consideration the general trespass laws of the State. The bounty laws included relate for convenience to all animals and birds on which bounty is paid.

FEDERAL LAWS

Two Federal laws have a bearing on the fur industry of the United States—the Lacey Act, governing interstate commerce in wild animals, and the tariff act of September 21, 1922.

That part of the Lacey Act codified as section 242 of the Criminal Code (35 Stat. 1137) makes it unlawful to deliver to a common carrier for transportation "from any State, Territory, or District of the United States to any other State, Territory, or District thereof" the bodies or parts of bodies of any wild animals killed or shipped in violation of the law of the State, Territory, or District in which killed or from which shipped.

The tariff act of September 21, 1922, places a duty of 15 per cent ad valorem on all live wild animals shipped into the United States. This includes silver and black foxes, the skins of which, dressed or undressed, and manufactures thereof, are dutiable at 50 per cent ad valorem. Other furs dressed on the skin, not advanced further than dyeing, are dutiable at 25 per cent ad valorem. Raw furs and skins (except silver and black fox skins) are admitted free.

The regulations of the Department of Agriculture for the inspection, quarantine, and entry of foxes have been rescinded. Foxes may now be brought in at any port on presentation of the regular importation permits and payment of the duty imposed by the tariff act.

LAWS OF STATES

ALABAMA

Open seasons: <sup>3</sup>	Dates inclusive
Beaver, otter, bear, raccoon, fox, opossum, mink, muskrat (trapping).....	Nov. 1-Feb. 28. <sup>3</sup>
Prohibited methods: Unlawful to set traps in such manner as to endanger domestic stock.
Licenses: Fee, $15 for first trap and $2.50 for each additional trap; issued by probate judges. Land-owners or landlords, and members of families may trap on own land during open season without license. Written permission required to trap on land of another.
Possession and sale: Possession of the young of protected fur animals prohibited during close season. No restrictions on skins legally taken.
Shipment and export: No restrictions on skins legally taken.
Propagation: Under special permit from commissioner of game and fisheries fur animals may be captured or possessed for propagation.
Bounties: None paid.

<sup>3</sup> Alabama: Owner may protect premises in any manner at any time from depredations of fur animals. Fur animals may be hunted with dog or gun: Sept. 1-Feb. 28.

ALASKA—Continued

Black bear (including its brown and blue, or glacier bear, color variations) (see "Bag limits") south summit Alaska Range and Ahklun Mountains.....	Sept.	1-June 20.
North Summit Alaska Range and Ahlum Mountains.....	No close season.
Polar bear, wolf, coyote, wolverene, marmot, ground squirrel.....	No close season.
District 3: <sup>10</sup>
Beaver, marten, mink, sea otter.....	No open season.
Muskrat.....	May	1-June 10.
Land otter, weasel (ermine), fox, lynx.....	Dec.	1-Mar. 31.
Bear, large brown and grizzly <sup>8</sup> .....	Sept.	1-June 20.
Black bear (including its brown and blue, or glacier bear, color variations), polar bear, wolf, coyote, wolverene, marmot, ground squirrel.....	No close season.

Prohibited methods: Unlawful to take or kill land fur animals with poison, by use of trap or device known as the "kllips," steel bear trap, or any other trap with jaws having a spread exceeding 9 inches, by aid or use of a shotgun, fire, jacklight, pit lamp, searchlight, or other artificial light, or (except polar bear) by aid of a dog. No fur animal may be taken from its home or den by digging, smoking, or the use of chemicals, and no home, house, den, or runway of a beaver or muskrat may be injured or destroyed.

Bag limits: Three large brown or grizzly bears a season, except on Kenai and Alaska Peninsulas, and the Kodiak-Afognak Islands group, two a season. In fur district 2, south Alaska Range and Ahklun Mountains, not more than 2 black bears may be taken in September.

Licenses: Trapping: Nonresident, $50 (non-resident, hunting large brown or grizzly bears, must have registered guide); resident,<sup>4</sup> $2 (not required of native-born Indians, Eskimos, or half-breeds who have not exercised the right of franchise or severed their tribal relations). Alien, $100 (special license, issued by members of commission). Fur farm, $2. Fur dealer: Resident, $10. Nonresident citizen, or corporation, association, or copartnership organized under laws of Territory, or a State of the United States, $250. Alien, or a corporation, association, or copartnership not organized under the laws of Territory, or a State of the United States, $500 (agents, non-resident citizen, $250; resident, $10). Licenses issued by members of commission, game wardens, and authorized agents. Licensed fur dealers must keep complete records of all fur transactions. Dealer's license not required of native-born resident Indian, Eskimo, or half-breed who has not exercised right of franchise or severed his tribal relations, or of a hunter or trapper to sell skins of fur animals he has lawfully taken, or of fur farmer to sell skins of animals raised by him and a person not engaged or employed in the fur trade may buy furs for his own use, but not for sale.

Licensees, within 30 days after expiration of license, must report to game commission, Juneau, number and kind of fur animals taken, purchased, or otherwise procured under license. Fur dealer and fur farmer must also comply with Territorial laws and keep records.

Possession and sale: No restrictions on prime skins legally taken or on beaver or marten skins legally acquired and duly sealed by the commission on or before August 29, 1928. Fur dealers required to be licensed (see "Licenses"). Blue-fox skins must be tagged or branded before being sold.

Shipment and export: No restrictions on prime skins legally taken, but no person who is engaged in fur farming or the fur trade as a dealer or agent shall possess or transport such furs without a license. Skins of beaver and marten legally acquired and properly sealed may be possessed and transported at any time but packages containing beaver and marten skins must be marked to show serial numbers of seals. Blue-fox skins (other than those raised on farms having a registered brand and branded with such brand) whether acquired in Territory or imported, must be tagged (fee, $1.50) by United States commissioner.

Shipment must be accompanied by statement showing number and kind of skins therein and that no unprime skin is included, such statements to be taken up and mailed to Alaska Game Commission, Juneau, by collectors of customs when by freight or express, by postmasters, when by parcel post, or direct to commission by shipper when by other means.

Nonresident citizen or alien may export three large brown or grizzly bears under hunting license coupons and affidavit of lawful killing.

Resident may export for mounting and return within one year, two heads or trophies of large brown or grizzly bears legally killed, under permit, fee $1 for each trophy. Resident citizen removing from Territory may export large brown or grizzly bears legally acquired, under permit, fee $5, for each specimen. (See "Licenses.")

Propagation:<sup>11</sup> License, fee $2, must be obtained from Alaska Game Commission, to conduct a fur farm or to possess fur animals for propagation. Fur animals may be taken for propagation under permit from Secretary of Agriculture and countersigned by executive officer of the commission. Blue-fox farmer must register brand, fee $10.

On Aleutian Islands Reservation permits to use the islands for fur farming and to trap animals for breeding purposes must be obtained from Department of Agriculture.

Public lands in Alaska for fur-farming purposes may be leased from the Department of the Interior under the act of July 3, 1926, and regulations thereunder.

Bounties: Wolf, $15; eagle, $1; hair seal (southeastern Alaska, east 152d meridian), $2 (paid by Territory).

<sup>4</sup> Alaska: Regulations under Alaska game law of Jan. 13, 1925, relating to land fur animals may be obtained upon application to Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or to Alaska Game Commission, Juneau, Alaska. For special information regarding sea otters and fur-seal fisheries and Afognak Reservation, which are subject to special legislative and administrative control, application should be made to Commissioner of Fisheries, Washington, D. C. For law and regulations governing leasing of public lands in Alaska for fur-farming purposes, application should be made to the Commissioner, General Land Office, Washington, D. C.

<sup>5</sup> Unlawful to kill land fur animals when the fur is unprime; the killing of all land fur animals in Mount McKinley National Park, Katmai and Glacier Bay National Monuments, or, except under permit from Secretary of Agriculture, on national bird and game refuges, on Krusof and Partofshikof Islands, or, except by occupant, on any island under lease or permit for fur-farming purposes, is prohibited.

<sup>8</sup> Large brown and grizzly bears are game animals and may be killed at any time to prevent damage to person or property. Resident license not required to take game animals. See "Bag limits" for special restrictions on large brown and grizzly bears on Kenai and Alaska Peninsulas and Kodiak-Afognak Islands group.

<sup>9</sup> District 2 includes the mainland and islands from Cape Fairweather, Gulf of Alaska, Iliamna Lake, and Bristol Bay, northward to the headwaters of the streams flowing into the Arctic Ocean north of the sixty-eighth parallel of north latitude.

<sup>10</sup> District 3 includes the region drained by the streams entering the Arctic Ocean north of the sixty-eighth parallel of north latitude and the drainage of the Noatak, Kobuk, Selawik, and Buckland Rivers.

<sup>11</sup> Unlawful to feed to a fox or other fur animal held in captivity, any part of a game animal or bird other than an eagle, a raven, crow, hawk, owl, or cormorant, except waste parts such as hides, viscera, and bones.

ARIZONA

Open seasons:

Beaver ..... No open season.

Other fur and predatory animals ..... No close season.<sup>12</sup>

Prohibited methods: No restrictions.

Licenses: Fee, $2.50; issued by warden, designated deputies, and clerks of boards of supervisors. License not required for trapping on own land, nor by persons under 18 years of age. Unlawful to disturb or remove traps of licensed trappers on public domain or on lands where they have permission to trap.

Possession and sale: No restrictions.

Shipment and export: No restrictions.

Miscellaneous: Unlawful to use fish or the flesh of any game bird or animal for trap bait.

Propagation: Under permit from State game warden, fur-bearing and predatory animals may be kept for propagation, exhibition, or sale.

Bounties: Payment of bounties is optional with county boards of supervisors.

<sup>12</sup> Arizona: Mountain lion, wolf, fox, coyote, lynx, wildcat, skunk, or other obnoxious animals may be taken on State game preserves only under regulations of State game warden. Owner may protect his premises from depredations of predatory and fur animals at any time.

ARKANSAS

Open seasons:

Bear, beaver ..... Dates inclusive

Otter ..... No open season.

Fox in Ashely, Benton, Bradley, Clark, Clay, Cleburne, Columbia, Conway, Craighead, Crawford, Crittenden, Cross, Dallas, Desha, Drew, Faulkner, Garland, Grant, Green, Hempstead, Hot Springs, Jefferson, Johnson, LaFayette, Logan, Lonoke, Miller, Mississippi, Monroe, Montgomery, Nevada, Ouachita, Phillips, Pike, Pope, Pulaski, Randolph, Saline, Searcy, Sebastian, Sevier, Union, Washington, White, Woodruff, and Yell Counties ..... No open season.<sup>13 14</sup>

In rest of State ..... No close season.

Wolf, bobcat, coyote ..... No close season.

Other fur animals ..... Nov. 15-Jan. 31.<sup>14</sup>

Prohibited methods: No restrictions.

Licenses: Trapping license, $20 (only required for use of more than 12 traps). Issued by State game and fish commission and circuit clerks. Resident using less than 12 traps must obtain license, $1.10; not required of person under 18 years trapping on own land. Nonresident trappers using more than 12 traps must obtain nonresident hunting license and $20 trapping license.

Possession and sale: Sale or possession of pelts taken in State prohibited, except between November 15 and February 10. Fur dealer required to file report of pelts on hand February 10 and obtain permit to possess or sell pelts during close season.

Shipment and export: No restrictions, except fur dealers must report shipments within or without State.

Propagation: The State game and fish commission may issue permits to breeders of game and fur animals under such regulations as it may prescribe.

ARKANSAS—Continued

Bounties: Wolf, $15; bobcat, $5; pups and kittens, $2.50 each; paid by State game and fish commission.

<sup>13</sup> Arkansas: Chasing foxes by dogs permitted. Foxes so caught may be killed and pelts sold by sheriff of county for benefit of school fund of district in which taken.

<sup>14</sup> Fur animals found destroying crops or poultry may be killed at any time.

CALIFORNIA

Open seasons:<sup>15 16</sup>

Dates inclusive

Black or brown bear (see exception), beaver,<sup>17</sup> muskrat, river otter, fisher, pine marten, skunk, fox, kit fox, ring-tailed cat, raccoon, wolverine, mink ..... Nov. 15-Feb. 28.

Exception: Black or brown bear in districts 1, 1½, 2, 2½. No close season.

Seal and California sea lion (see exception) ..... Unprotected.

Exception: California sea lion in game districts 19, 20, 20A. No open season.

Sea otter ..... No open season.

Prohibited methods: Unlawful to use poisons or gun larger than No. 10 gauge in taking fur animals, or to dig or smoke out skunks from dens.

Licenses:<sup>15</sup> Citizen, $1; alien, $2; issued by fish and game commission. License issued free to veterans of Civil War. Duplicate license issued only on affidavit of applicant that original has been lost or destroyed. License not required of persons under 18 years of age. Licensed trappers required to report catch before July 1. Licensee must exhibit license and furs to wardens or peace officers upon demand. Unlawful to disturb or remove traps of licensed trapper who is trapping on the public domain or on lands where he has permission to trap.

Possession and sale: No restrictions on skins legally taken.

Shipment and export: No restrictions.

Propagation: Fur animals may be raised in captivity under regulations of the commission.

Bounties: Mountain lion, female, $30; male, $20; paid by fish and game commission. Boards of supervisors of counties may fix the rate and pay bounty on coyote, wildcat, fox, lynx, bear, or mountain lion. Many counties now pay a bounty on some of these animals, especially on coyotes.<sup>18</sup>

<sup>15</sup> California: Written permission from board of fish and game commissioners required to trap or hunt predatory animals on State game refuges.

<sup>16</sup> Of the 66 fish and game districts created under the act of 1917, as amended in 1919, 1921, 1925, and 1927, 9 (1, 1½, 1¾, 2, 2½, 3, 4, 4½, and 4¾) are properly hunting districts; 14, 15, 23, 24, 25, and 26 are fishing districts but are open to hunting; of the other 51 districts, 32 are game refuges and 19 are commercial fishing districts.

District 1 comprises the eastern half of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, including all counties not included in districts 1½, 1¾, 2, 2½, 3, 4, 4½, and 4¾.

District 1½ comprises the counties of Del Norte, Siskiyou, and Humboldt.

District 1¾ comprises Modoc and Lassen Counties.

District 2 comprises that part of State south of Humboldt and Tehama Counties, west of Sacramento River and north of San Francisco Bay, including counties of Glenn, Colusa, Yolo, Solano, Napa, Lake, Sonoma, and Marin, and that portion of Mendocino County not included in district 2½.

District 2½ comprises townships in Mendocino County bordering on Pacific Ocean, except townships 11 north, ranges 15 and 16 west, and townships 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 18 north, range 16 west.

District 3 comprises the region around southern portion of San Francisco Bay and coast counties south of the Golden Gate as far as Ventura, including counties of Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo,
